ELLEN HARVEY, NETWORK (SOUTH STATION, BOSTON) Subway art is a sadly unsung genre, often unnoticed and little loved. Harvey's mosaic transforms the Headhouse 2 entrance of this major traffic hub with just enough whimsy and sincerity. It features a bird's-eye view of Boston and a vast blue ocean, nodding at once to the city's preindustrial past and to impending climate change. If you look very closely, there are mermaids, too.
